What if,
we would really listen to our inner voice?
What if,
we would really listen to each other?
What if,
we would really take care of our mother?
What if,
we would create our own Paradise?